

TENURE TRACK TEACHING POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

The College of Communication and Information of the Río Piedras Campus, University of Puerto Rico, seeks candidates for a tenure-track teaching position, effective on January 2, 2023.

Requirements:

- Doctoral degree with specialization in Communication, in the area of Theory and Research or related areas, from an accredited university.
- Teaching experience and research agenda in the intersection between communication and information, in areas such as digital media and culture, digital methods, networks, digital audiences, knowledge management, information systems, collaboration technologies, and databases, among others.
- Capacity for and commitment to obtain seed or external funding.
- Proficiency in face-to-face, distance, remote, and online teaching.
- Command of Spanish and English.
- Command of or experience with digital production and collaboration technologies.
- Ability to direct research projects at the graduate level.
- Knowledge of student-learning assessment processes in face-to-face as well as distance and online education.
- Demonstrated capacity for academic research and dissemination is also expected, evidenced by publications in peer-reviewed journals in their area of expertise within Communication and Information Sciences, or related areas, and participation in national and international conferences.

Responsibilities:

Teach courses and seminars at the undergraduate and graduate levels in face-to-face, distance, and online modalities in daytime, evening, and Saturday schedules in the area of Communication and Information; coordinate and supervise professional practice courses; maintain an active research agenda and publish in peer-reviewed journals in respective area of expertise; actively participate in faculty and campus committees, projects, and activities; write grant proposals for external funding; comply with all the responsibilities described in the General Regulations of the University of Puerto Rico.

Required documents:

- Letter of intent describing academic vision and philosophy in communication and information sciences; current and future research agenda; and teaching excellence
- Evidence of research agenda, peer-reviewed publications, and academic work
- Official academic credentials of all degrees obtained
- Current curriculum vitae
- Contact information for three (3) recommenders who can offer more information on the candidate's professional performance

Deadline to receive documents: October 2, 2022.

Jorge Santiago Pintor, PhD
Acting Dean
College of Communication and Information
Date: 30/agosto/2022

Nivia A. Fernández-Hernández, EdD
Acting Dean of Academic Affairs
Río Piedras Campus
Date: 30 de agosto de 2022

Candidates must submit documents to the following address:

Dr. Jorge Santiago Pintor, Acting Dean
College of Communication and Information
10 Ave. Universidad, Ste. 1001
San Juan, PR 00925-2530

facultad.comunicacioneinformacion@upr.edu

Employer with Equal Employment Opportunities