facultad estudios generales

Department of Biological Sciences

CALL FOR FACULTY TEACHING CANDIDATES

The Department of Biological Sciences of the College of General Studies at the Río Piedras Campus, University of Puerto Rico, seeks to create a roster of qualified faculty for full-time and part-time contracting services starting January 2027 to teach undergraduate courses in the following areas:

- General Biology
- Evolutionary Biology
- Human or Cell Physiology
- Curriculum and Instruction in Biology
- Genetics

Preparation and Requirements:

- Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) or Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) in Biology, Biological Sciences, or Science Education, with graduate-level academic preparation in Biology
- Experience in teaching courses with a multi and interdisciplinary approach
- Course assessment experience
- Proficiency in Spanish and English languages
- Teaching experience with diverse student populations
- Experience in different modalities of teaching (in person, hybrid, online)
- Availability to offer morning, evening and/or Saturday courses

Candidates will submit the following documents in a digital format:

- Letter of intent
- Updated Curriculum Vitae
- Official copies of the academic credentials of all degrees obtained
- Evidence of professional certifications

The closing date for applications is November 20, 2026. Submit all documentation to: mariluz.felix@upr.edu

University of Puerto Rico
RÍo Piedras Campus
College of General Studies
Department of Biological Sciences
12 Ave. Universidad Ste. 1201
San Juan, PR 00925-2532

José R. Corrales Corrales, Ph.D.
Interim Dean, College of General Studies

Rosaura Ramírez Ordóñez, Ph.D.
Interim Dean, Academic Affairs